USED CAR EXCHANGE IS BEING CONSIDERED HERE

Local Dealers May Adopt Plan Eliminating Competition.

HARRISBURG TRIES IT

Bellefonte automobile dealers are considering establishing a motor exchange or market, here to handle all sales of second hand cars, such as will be put into operation in Harrisburg February 1st. If the plan goes through it will revolutionize the buying and selling of second-hand cars and at the same time relieve dealers of taking in old cars as part payment for new machines.

Harrisburg is the first large centre of population in this State to undertake to adopt the motor exchange idea, which is known as the Appleby system. Virtually all of the Harrisburg dealers are stockholders in the exchange, or market, which has its own manager. The dealers themselves are under agreement not to take over any second-hand cars. Persons wanting to buy new cars, and having second-hand machines on hand are referred to the motor exchange, which appraises, buys and pays the proceeds direct to the owners.

The exchange plan is desired by dealers because it eliminates competition among themselves in taking over second-hand machines. It wipes out any opportunity for an owner of a second-hand car to dicker with several dealers at the same time and finally purchase a new automobile from the dealer who will allow him the most for the used car.

When such a system is in operation the owner of a second-hand car will have to dispose of it through the exchange or not at all, at least in that city or town. In addition to relieving dealers of the necessity of buying and selling second-hand cars in order to dispose of new machines, the exchange system places the handling of used cars on a basis of actual value.

The system as outlined was first tried out in California, where it was found to be quite successful. It has been adopted in a number of western and middle-western states and more recently has been taken under consideration by motor dealers in eastern cities. It will be interesting to observe, if the plan is adopted in Bellefonte, how it will work out in a town of its size.

ALLEGED FORGER CAUGHT

John H. Leonard Held for Court in Default of Bail.

John H. Leonard, a young man of 18 years who is charged with passing forged checks at several local business places and of securing goods and money upon them, is held in jail here for his appearance in court in default of bail after a hearing on Monday before a State College justice of the peace.

When Sheriff Dick Taylor was asked where Leonard was from, he replied, "Any place he takes off his hat." The young man seems like an honest, clean-cut fellow and the charge of passing forged checks appears out of place for him but the evidence secured was sufficient to hold him.

Leonard was caught in Harrisburg on Saturday by Robert Mingle, of State College, who was tipped off as to Leonard's movements. He was brought to Bellefonte on Sunday and placed in jail and given a hearing on Monday.

Fingers Burned in Explosion

Earl Teaman, of Bellefonte, was very painfully burned on two fingers of his right hand on Monday afternoon while at work in the local match plant, where he is employed. The misfortune was the result of an unusual accident. Mr. Teaman picked up a sponge which exploded in his hand. The sponge was laden with the composition used on the match heads and highly explosive. It was supposed to be dampened, but this had not been done and Mr. Teaman did not not know it until he picked it up. When dry, the sponges explode from the composition if picked up, Though the burns were very painful, they are not considered serious and the young man was able to return to work on Tuesday morning.

Buy Stamps at Postoffice.

The rural mail carriers have found a practice of the patrons, that of putting pennies in the boxes for stamps for their letters instead of attaching the necessary postage stamps, an inconvenient plan and very cold on some of the frosty mornings of late. The carriers ask that the patrons please purchase postage stamps at the postoffice.

EVANGELICAL IMPROVEMENTS

Broke Ground This Week for New Sunday School Unit.

Another great improvement for local church work was started this week when workmen broke ground on the plot adjoining the Evangelical church for the erection of the new Sunday School unit, announced some months ago. This new addition will be 50 by 56½ feet and will have 15 individual Sunday School class rooms, beside other conveniences.

Individual Sunday School class rooms are the greatest single advancement in this work in recent years. It means better class work. It has been the aim of the pastor, Rev. Reed O. Steely, who has made remarkable progress in the Bellefonte church since coming here from Williamsport 3 years.

Incidentally, it was whispered quietly among church folks when Rev. Steely came here that he was leaving a church where his salary was approximately twice what he was to receive in Bellefonte and the apparent suggestion was there must be something very good in him to sacrifice so much. That something good has been demonstrated and while we don't know how much truth there was in the salary talk, it is no secret that Rev. Steely is well-liked and strongly supported by the members of his church, which has shown a steady increase in all departments.

The new Sunday School building will be of fireproof construction, either brick or metal and stucco, and the construction, according to present plans, will begin April 1. It is expected to have a large force of workmen on the structure during the summer so it can be completed for occupancy by autumn.

The construction is such that the building can be opened in one big room, with balcony on three sides, or can be closed to 15 individual class rooms. It will accommodate 700 persons. Eventually, a wall will be removed from the present church building so the Sunday School unit and church will be under one roof, making a building where a crowd of 1,000 may be accommodated when desired.

Should things go right and Rev. Steely be returned here for a few years, he will put on a special program that has brought much success in church work in other places. He will go to conference, held in Williamsport this year in St. John's Evangelical church on Newberry St., March 6—11. His third year closes on Feb. 28 and is the best year in the history of the local church.

CAUGHT ON SHAFT

Earl Vonada, of Zion, Had Clothes Torn Off.

Earl Vonada, of Zion, had a narrow escape from serious injury on last Thursday afternoon when his clothes caught in a revolving shaft while he was assisting in cutting wood with a power outfit at the Harry Rockey place, about 1 mile from Zion. He was fortunate in having no bones broken, but was painfully bruised and stoved up.

The young man, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Vonada, was rapidly whirled about the machinery and his clothing was torn from his body. It all happened so quickly that several fellow workmen did not have an opportunity to render any assistance until it was over. The gasoline engine was stopped, however, and it is thought the young man was thrown against the switch and in this manner stopped it.

WILD AUTO RIDE

Students in Midnight Dash Fortunate to Escape Injury.

Several young men, said to be students of the Penna. State College, took a wild auto ride down the steep hill near the Court House in Bellefonte about 12 o'clock on Tuesday night. They were fortunate in escaping injury and the auto was damagad very little.

The driver lost control when he was about half-way up the hill, which he seemed to be making on high gear. In changing gears, to second, the clutch was unintentionally thrown into reverse. Before the auto could be stopped on its backward dash down the hill, it struck the cars of Harold Mayes, of Howard, and Calvin Rice, of Bellefonte, and finally came to a stop at the railing by the shoe repair shop under the postoffice. None of the cars were much damaged.

Youth Furnished Bail.

Roy C. Mason, a youth of near Philipsburg, after a hearing before Justice Byron, furnished bail in the sum of $300 for his appearance at court in Bellefonte to answer a charge of larceny of a revolver, valued at $15, and other articles from the store of W. F. Gill, of Philipsburg.

BIG SEDAN TURNED OVER ON ICY MOUNTAIN ROAD

Basket Ball Players Escaped Injury; Sedan Damaged.

DELAYED TEAM ON TRIP

The good construction and splendid engineering used in building the modern sedan automobiles, probably saved from serious injuries the Bucknell Sigma Chi basket ball team members, manager, coach and driver, last Thursday evening in a mishap on the north side of the Nittany mountain road, near the watering trough. The big sedan turned over several times but was only slightly damaged.

The road was icy, causing the driver to lose control. Before the car, a Cadillac, could be gotten under control again, it had turned over and over. After it came to a stop, the occupants scrambled out, none being unconscious. Reckoning the result, one of the players found his hand cut slightly but none of the party much the worse for the experience.

The glass in the sedan was broken but otherwise the auto was in good shape. It was righted and the party continued their journey here, being delayed 15 minutes. The basket ball team put up a splendid game with the Bellefonte Academy, holding the local boys to a tie score, which stood 34 - 34 at the end of the game and was broken by a second period of five minutes of extra play, in which the Academy scored 4 points and Bucknell none.

SALMON AND ICE CREAM

Combination Made Jack Fromm a Very Sick Boy.

Salmon and ice cream made a very sick boy of Jack Fromm, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fromm, of East Bishop street, on Friday evening but it is pleasing to note that prompt treatment by the family physician soon brought relief to the lad and he has recovered.

Salmon was part of the supper served at the Fromm home. The ice cream was eaten later in the evening, Jack buying some of the tempting delicacy while going to the basket ball game at the armory, played that evening between the Bellefonte and Lewistown High School teams. Soon after eating the ice cream, the lad suffered much pain and told his cousin, Kenneth Fromm, and other boys with them.

The game was so closely contested that the cause of the pain was not considered at the time, the boys being much absorbed in the skillful plays of the opposing quintets. Matters took a different turn, however, when Jack fell against his companions. It was realized then that something serious ailed the lad and he was taken by his cousin Kenneth, to the doctor and later to his home.

Found Dead in Bed.

The body of Mrs. John Rankin was brought to Bellefonte from Philadelphia last Saturday and interment made in the Union cemetery. The deceased was the widow of the late John Rankin, who was a brother of Mrs. D. H. Hastings, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. Frank McFarlane, of Boalsburg. A short time ago the McFarlanes wrote to Mrs. Rankin asking that she come to Boalsburg and make her home with them. Thinking it strange that they received no reply to their letter they wrote to Mrs. John I. Rogers, a friend of the family and who has visited in Bellefonte. They asked that Mrs. Rogers call at the Rankin home. Mrs. Rogers did so, only to find the Rankin home locked. She secured assistance and an entrance was effected. Mrs. Rankin was found dead in bed, apparently having been ill some days and alone at the time. Mrs. Rogers communicated the facts to Mrs. Hastings and the McFarlanes who immediately had the body prepared for burial and brought to Bellefonte.

Appendicitis Proved Fatal.

Harold Kenneth Boob, 7 years old, a son of William Boob, of near Coburn, died on Wednesday morning in the Bellefonte hospital from appendicitis. The ailment was left go too long and the appendix broke. Burial will be made from the parents home on Saturday afternoon.

No Autos for Students.

The board of trustees of the Penns, State College, at their annual meeting held on Tuesday at Harrisburg, adopted a resolution declaring against students at Penn State having automobiles during the college term. It was ordered that parents of students be advised accordingly.

IGNORE CENTRE COUNTY IN 1924 NEW ROAD LIST

Bald Eagle Valley Not Favored by Pinchot Administration.

MANY COUNTIES HELPED

Centre County has been ignored by the State Highway Department, at Harrisburg, in the matter of new road building for 1924. The official schedule of new roads to be built during the present year was announced from Harrisburg on Monday. About one-half of all of the counties in the State are on the list, each favored with some new road building, but Centre County is not among that number.

As officially announced from Harrisburg, the State will build more than 800 miles of new road during 1924. It had been hoped that some small part of this elaborate construction plan would be alloted to Centre County, but as it turned out such was not the case. The keenest disappointment is felt throughout the county, and particularly among residents of both upper and lower Bald Eagle valley. The official news from Harrisburg has blasted any hope for a modern concrete highway to connect finished sections in that valley in the near future. Residents of the valley have recently launched an organized movement to secure this greatly needed improvement. Unless there is a change in present plans at Harrisburg a modern highway through the valley, to be known as the "Bald Eagle Trail," cannot be built before 1925, and with no assurance that it will be constructed even then.

Just why Centre County has been blacklisted by the Pinchot administration for any new roads in 1924 is not understood here. Centre County loyally supported the recent $50,000,000 bond issue amendment for new roads, returning a majority of 1492 for the measure. Hundreds of citizens in the county, regardless of party lines, actively worked for the new roads bond issue, naturally believing that Centre County would share in the new roads plans for the present year. They were greatly surprised when they learned on Monday that this county had not been included in such plans.

N. A. Staples, district highway engineer, with headquarters in Bellefonte, had no comment to make on the official action at Harrisburg. In a general way, he stated that as much money will be spent in Centre County for maintenance during 1924 as in previous years. Mr. Staples addressed the following to "The Republican."

"In response to your requests for information concerning the "Bald Eagle Trail," over which there has been so much local agitation of late, wish to advise that I have no authority to express publically, my opinion of the possibilities for construction of this route. The Honorable Paul D. Wright, Secretary of Highways, has definitely stated to members of his Department, that the road construction program will be decided upon by him at Harrisburg, and publically announced there. The fact that a Surveying Corps is working on this Route is no indication that the road is to be built.

"You also asked how much money would be spent in Centre County in 1924. This information can only be obtained from the Harrisburg office. I can say, in a general way, that as much money will be spent in maintenance work as in previous years.

"Please communicate directly with Mr. Melville H. James, Publicity Director, Department of Highways, Harrisburg, for any information of this nature."

Presumably, the district highway headquarters here is not permitted to give out information regarding public work under the present administration at Harrisburg. This policy is a departure from that of previous administrations when the local highway headquarters was enabled to inform residents of the district regarding work being planned in the county.

P. O. S. of A. Installation.

The Bellefonte P. O. S. of A, had a delightful affair last Friday evening at their rooms above the Potter—Hoy hardware store. Officers were installed as follows: Charles A. Fromm, president; Ira Wright, vice president; Edwin Williams, master of forms; Edward Peters, conductor; Elmer Williams, recording secretary; John Garthoff, financial secretary; A. W. Stine, treasurer; E. T. Kellerman, inspector; C. P. Garbrick, guard; Niles Davis, trustee. After the installation exercises, refreshments were served and a general social time enjoyed by the members present.

COUNCIL COMMITTEES

Mill Project May Be Abandoned Through Complications.

Council met in the second session of 1924 on Monday evening and President John S. Walker named his committees as follows:

Finance: W. J. Emerick, Harry Badger, John Dunlap.

Street: Wm. H. Brouse, Thos. Hazel, W. J. Emerick.

Water: J. M. Cunningham, Wm. H. Brouse, Benj. Bradley.

Fire and Police: Harry Flack, J. M. Cunningham, Benj. Bradley.

Market: John Dunlap, Wm. H. Brouse, Harry Flack.

Sanitary: Harry Badger, Thos. Hazel, John Dunlap.

Village Improvement: Benj. Bradley, Harry Flack, Harry Badger.

Special: Thos. Hazel, W. J. Emerick, Wm. H. Brouse, Benj. Bradley, J. M. Cunningham.

The first named in each instance is the chairman of the committee:

Written communications were as follows:

A statement from the borough solicitor stated that bonds had been filed for the recently elected overseers of the poor, Thomas Fleming and Alexander Morrison.

The secretary of the Associated Business Men of Bellefonte sent a letter endorsing the plan to purchase the Ulsh & Bashoar mill for power and light for the borough needs.

J. K. Johnston, formerly collector of taxes, sent a list of tax exonerations for the period of 1917—1922.

A letter from Mr. Bashoar to his son was read in Council, stating that the former while in Harrisburg had been talking with a number of men regarding the proposed sale of the mill property to the borough and learned there was nothing to hinder using the property to furnish water power for borough needs, but there would be complications to consider regarding the manufacture of electric light and power which would come under the public utilities department at Harrisburg and would necessitate a hearing before the state public service commission. He advised members of Council get in touch with the borough solicitor and with the Keystone Power Corporation before taking definite action.

Names of drivers for the Undine fire truck were submitted as follows: Basil Doll, Ralph Moerschbacher, Charles Saxion and George Carpeneto.

Names of drivers for the Logans were submitted as follows: Jay Storch, Ellis Hines, Allen McClellan, Max Gamble, Homer Barnes, Elliott Lane.

Both lists were referred to the Fire and Police committee for naming of four drivers for each company.

An application from Harry Dukeman for chief-of-police of Bellefonte borough was referred to the Fire and Police committee for consideration.

The Street and Water committees made routine reports, the latter also reporting collections on 1922 water tax of $193 and turning in $750 collected.

The Fire and Police committee reported an inspection of the steam engine at the Undine Fire company and found the grate missing. By investigating, it was learned the grate became lost while the steamer was in service some time ago in Lock Haven. The hose tower was also reported in bad shape. By motion, the committee was ordered to have proper repairs made.

The Finance committee reported notes for renewal amounting to $10,300 and interest on same.

The Ulsh & Bashoar mill proposition was referred to the Finance, Street and Water committees, each to consider and the chairman then to make a final plan to lay before Council for consideration with the borough solicitor and the Keystone Power Corporation. It was stated, in this connection, that the new project would require erection of 132 light poles and stringing of seven miles of wire, which with other expenses that would be necessary, make the proposition a doubtful matter.

Brough Manager J. D. Seibert was re-elected for two years; Borough Treasurer Edward J. Gehret was re-elected and the re-election of Robert Kline as fire marshal was confirmed.

SWOOPE FOR MELLON PLAN

Congressman Announces Support for Proposed Tax Reduction.

Congressman William I. Swoope, of Clearfield, announced on Monday that he favors and will support the tax reduction plan proposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

"I favor the Mellon plan of tax reduction," said Congressman Swoope, "and will vote for the Admistration bill as soon as it is reported by the Ways and Means Committee and I get an opportunity to do so."

SNOW SHOE DRUGGIST VICTIM OF BURGLAR

ACTIVE IN PHILIPSBURG

W. A. Sickle, well known druggist at Snow Shoe, thinks he was fortunate that he did not have more cash in his store on Tuesday evening. All he had in his safe and two registers was taken by a robber, thought to be a local person aware of conditions.

Mr. Sickle did not lock his safe, leaving early in the evening to attend the Snow Shoe home talent play, which was a great success. He planned to return to the store after the play and did so. He soon noticed that someone had been in the store during his absence. Investigation revealed the rear window broken and cash, amounting to perhaps $50 or $60 missing, the contents of the 2 registers and safe, no checks or other articles being disturbed.

Chester Hutchison, firemen at the Guelich garage in Philipsburg, is carrying his right arm in a sling as the result of an encounter with a bold robber early on Monday morning. It seems the attempted robbery was the culmination of a series of robberies and other vain attempts at a number of local business places in Philipsburg. The man who attacked Hutchison struck at him with a heavy iron bar, then fled when Hutchison managed to intercept the blow with his arm. He ran up the street, where he was seen to get into a car in which another man was waiting and they sped away without being recognized.

A. A. DALE DEAD

Attorney, Penman and Orator, Suffered from Baffling Malady.

Alfred A. Dale, one of Centre County's most widely known residents, passed away on Saturday evening at 9:45 o'clock after a long and distressing illness from an ailment, apparently cancer, but baffling to the greatest specialists in the east.

The deceased had frequently been to Baltimore and Philadelphia, having spent his earnings of a lifetime, but the malady, which affected his mouth, seemed to come anew even if relief was secured at times and gradually became worse, causing him very much suffering the past year or longer. With it all, Mr. Dale maintained as cheery a disposition as possible and bore his suffering bravely, with little complaint. After his own money was all gone and the ailment continued to cause him great suffering, prominent business men and close friends extended what aid they could but it seemed that there was nothing known to overcome the ailment.

The deceased was born on July 29, 1849, at Oak Hall, a son of the late Christian and Eliza Neff Dale. He was one of a family of fifteen children, the youngest of whom was Clement Dale, who was associated with A. A. Dale as local attorneys. The brothers also did much surveying work.

A. A. Dale secured his early education in the public school at Oak Hall, was prepared for college at Boalsburg Academy and went to Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg in 1870, graduating with the degree of Bachelor of Arts in June, 1874. During the next two years he studied law in the office of the late Daniel Keller, being admitted to the bar in 1876.

He was a remarkable penman and one of his big achievements was filling out thousands of certificates in connection with contributions to the Curtin Memorial, a work which required much time and painstaking effort and was done freely, without pay.

The deceased was also in demand frequently as a speaker, being an able orator. On one occasion a number of years ago he delivered the Memorial Day address at the National cemetery at Gettysburg. When he had finished his address a little girl clad in white came from the crowd and took one of the small American flags from a veteran's grave, presenting it to Mr. Dale. This flag was one of the things which he cherished and treasured through life.

He never married and resided for many years with his brother, Clement Dale, and family. Surviving are three brothers: Philip, of State College; A. W. of Boalsburg; and Clement, of Bellefonte.

Funeral services were held in the Boalsburg Lutheran church on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Wilson P. Ard and Rev. Wagner officiating. Burial was made in Boalsburg cemetery.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Tells of Mrs. Vogel's Terrible Suffering and How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan. — "My troubles were severe pains in my back and terrible bearing-down pains in my right side, also headaches and sleepless nights. I first began having troubles when I was 15, and they have increased as I grew older. A little booklet was left at my door, and I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women and decided to try it. After the first week I could go to sleep every night and I stopped having that nervous feeling and got a better appetite. The doctor had always said that an operation was the only thing that would help me, but I never had any faith in an operation. Since the Vegetable Compound has started helping me I do not suffer the severe pains, feel stronger, and am able to do my own work. I am more than glad to tell my friends that it helps where other medicines have failed."—Mrs. Gus Vogel, 6608 Pelouze Street, Detroit, Michigan.

A record of fifty years service must convince women of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

SAFE

Knew Where She Was

A young woman, traveling alone, and unused to the ways of the world, had left her home on an early morning train to visit a friend in Fifeshire. It had been a tiring journey, and just before reaching Dunfermline she had fallen asleep.

Waking up, she turned to an old gentleman on the seat beside her and said, "Will you please tell me if we are on this side of Dunfermline or the other side?"

"We are on this side," he said.

And she settled down again, entirely satisfied.

Russ Province in New York

With Governor and Staff, Exiles Meet Weekly to Keep Up Hopes.

New York.—New York boasts foreign colonies from all the countries of the globe, but few New Yorkers know that within the confines of their great metropolis there exists an organized "province" of the Russia of the czars, firmly knit and efficiently directed by a governor general and a staff of provincial officers.

The province has no boundaries. Its headquarters shifts weekly from one East side meeting hall to another. Its exchequer if ofttimes barren, but the hearts of its citizens are rich in faith that some day they will again live on the soil of the Russia of their fathers.

Several hundred Russian men and women, driven out of their homeland by the soviets and held together here by their patriotism, formed the provincial government. Many of the exiles had noble titles; others were officials of old Russia. Now many of them are day laborers and few are affluent.

Revive Memories of Old Days.

Each Tuesday night they meet in a rented hall and revive memories of their days in Moscow and Petrograd. There are Russian songs and Russian dancing, speeches, poems and anecdotes.

The governor general is in charge. His staff constitute a reception committee. Two generals laboriously draw up the curtains. Another former army officer is accompanist at the piano.

The scenes bring the audience back to the great opera house in Petrograd, to receptions in the homes of the upper classes. Then an elocutionist recites poems, describing the downfall of the old life, and a hush of bitterness and sadness falls over the listeners.

But the sad mood is dispelled when the lieutenant governor imitates two old Babushshki in Constantinople describing the splendors of New York. Their roseate misconceptions of the New World make the hearers rock with laughter.

Then the "province" disbands and its members go back to the far from roseate reality of their lives in exile.

Boy Heads $2,000,000 Firm.

New York.—His boy chums call him just plain "Luke," but wealthy art connoisseurs, bankers of several nations and business associates address him more respectfully, for to them he is Lucien J. Demotte, seventeen-year-old president of the House of Demotte, a $2,000,000 art concern located in this city.

Young Demotte is a dark-haired, soft-spoken, esthetic-looking son of France, with more the air of a student than of a successful man of affairs. Fate cut short his boyhood and shouldered him with a man's responsibilities.

Last summer, when life to this boy meant nothing more than pleasant days with a tutor in his ancestral home near Paris, his father, George Joseph Demotte, founder of the New York house of art, was accidentally shot and killed in a boar hunt in France. As is the French custom, the youth had been trained to tread his father's footsteps. He had been reared on art, in the old Demotte mansion on the banks of the Seine, in the midst of ancient furniture and statuary his ancestors had accumulated from the medieval castles of France.

To Follow Father's Plans.

"My father always talked to me of art," says Lucien. "Then, too, I had access to his library on Gothic art. We often went on tours of France together, visiting old churches and hunting through remote places for sculptures, wood carvings and other antiques with which to build up our collection."

The death of the elder Demotte ended the care-free existence of his son. A month ago Lucien came to America. He was elected president of his father's corporation and given full authority to manage the business.

"It is my plan to conduct our affairs just as my father did," he said. "I shall return to France each year and bring to America those beautiful works of Gothic art which your collectors have always so greatly admired."

Africa Uses Locomotives to Exterminate Locusts

Ravaging thousands of acres of the South African veldt, blocking trains for many hours by their swarming numbers, the locust is the one formidable enemy which the Boer farmers and railway companies are now combating, according to a traveler who has just arrived in New York from Pretoria, Transvaal. He reports that no definite solution for the present plight has yet been found, but, on the contrary, the locust pestilence is expected to grow worse when the late rains come to facilitate the hatching of countless millions of locust eggs. For miles around the cereal crops and the savannahs, upon which the cattle fatten, are entirely blasted by these voracious insects, which cause most of their havoc at night when they settle on the ground to feed.

"The locust," continues this traveler, "has a peculiar preference for the veldt bordering the railway and so menacing has the miasma become that 'locust specials,' consisting of an engine and a poison-laden truck, patrol hundreds of miles of the road to kill off these traffic impeders. The truck carries a tank to which a pump, drawing its power from the engine, is attached. The tank is filled with an arsenic solution which is pumped through two sprays, one on either side of the receptacle, upon the swarming insects. The force of the spray shoots the poison for many yards, and so successful has the apparatus proved that it is being adopted on every line traversing South Africa.

"The locust, not content with foraging in the veldt, has already penetrated into the cities, where even the main streets are coated an inch deep with the buzzing, struggling green mass."

Warns of Spurious Reserve Bank Notes

New York.—Two more spurious federal reserve bank notes have been found by the Treasury department. One, a five-dollar note, is drawn on the Federal Reserve bank of New York, and the other, of $10, is against the Richmond (Va.) institution.

The New York counterfeit is described as "a fairly well executed photo-mechanical production, printed on two pieces of paper between which a few silk threads have been distributed. At first glance the note is deceptive, but it will not bear inspection. The lathe work is broken, the portrait is coarse and the back of the note, which is not so well executed as the face, is printed in a darker green than the genuine."

In describing the Richmond bill the Treasury department characterized it as "a very poorly executed zinc etching," which "should be readily detected."

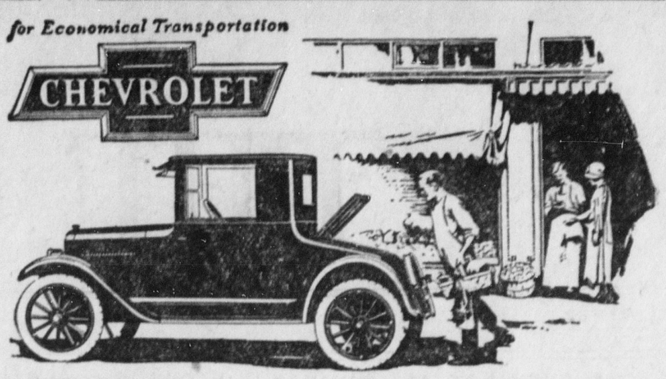
Famous Church Falling Into Ruins

A view of the century old Stoke Poges church in England, around which a halo of fame has been cast by the fact that Gray wrote his "Elegy" here. The ancient structure is crumbling and a sum of $30,000 is needed to repair and to purchase ten acres of ground necessary to preserve for all time its rural surroundings and peaceful charm.

for Economical Transportation

CHEVROLET



The Economical Quality Car

Chevrolet prices are not the lowest on the market, yet Chevrolet economical transportation averages lowest in cost. This average cost considers the purchase price, interest on investment, depreciation and all operating and maintenance costs.

A detailed comparison with any other car in the low priced field will convince you that Chevrolet is the best buy because of its superior quality and because the purchase price includes full equipment.

More than a million Chevrolets are now in use. Twelve huge plants are now building them at the rate of twenty-five hundred per working day. Nearly one-half million Chevrolets were bought in 1923—far exceeding in number the sales of any other quality car.

Thus, our statements have the strongest possible backing, namely, the faith and patronage of the American people who know automobiles and know practical values better than any other people on earth.

Let any one of our seven thousand dealers show you our seven types of cars and explain how easy it is to get one and enjoy its use.

OVER 68 YEARS OF SUCCESS

The American Legion

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

MAY BE YOUNGEST MEMBER OF LEGION

Who is the youngest member of the American Legion? Just at this time, Jefferson post of the organization in Louisville, Ky., lays claim to that distinction, in announcing that F. Strother Barton is a member of the post.

Barton was born April 3, 1902, and when the Marine corps issued a call for buglers in 1916, he attempted to enlist. He was unable to meet the requirements for age, though he passed all others successfully. Denied his parents' consent to enter service, as he was but fourteen at the time, he bided his time and enlisted in the navy in 1916.

He was sent to Charleston, S. C., for training in naval aviation, from there to be sent to Hampton Roads, Va. Barton was discharged in 1919, and soon after "hooked up" with the Legion in Louisville.

One brother, Lieut. Frank R. Barton, served two years in the air service, was awarded the Croix de Guerre, and received special citations for bravery in the Argonne and other engagements. Another brother, William H. Barton, was a member of the Tank corps, serving with those forces in the Somme offensive.

The young man is now twenty-one, but the department of Kentucky believes that in him they have the youngest Legionnaire in the whole organization.

Arkansas Legion to Aid of City Schools

Broadening the scope of the community service program, members of the American Legion auxiliary in Little Rock, Ark., are co-operating with Affiliated School Improvement association to bring about better school conditions in that city.

Because school funds were low the authorities made a ten per cent reduction in teachers' salaries and planned to close the schools earlier in the year. Not daunted by the action, women workers of the Legion and persons interested in the city's schools, raised funds with which to complete a thirty-nine-weeks' term and pay the teachers the full salary provided for in the contracts. Members of the M. M. Ebert unit of the American Legion auxiliary and department officials of the organization joined in the allied movement.

New Post in Honduras

Far off in Honduras, thirty World war veterans have heard the call of the American Legion and have formed the Legion's newest foreign post. The men, practically all of whom are in the employ of the Truxillo Railroad company sent in an application for a post charter which was granted, making the new post the first foreign unit to be chartered in the new year. It is located at Puerto Castilla, Honduras, and Willard Beaulac, vice consul for the United States at that station, has been named post commander.

Would Increase Police Pay

Increase of pay for members of the Chicago police department was sought by a number of organizations in that city, but none were more ardent in support of the demand of the police than members of Commodore Barry post of the American Legion. A letter to city officials from the post supported the request for increase of pay to $2,500 per year, on the grounds that the members of the department were not receiving a wage "commensurate with their work or living expenses."

POLISH PATRIOT WRITES OF VISIT

Impressed by the great industrial development, the co-operation in civic life, and the boundless good fellowship in America, Gen. Joseph Haller, noted Polish patriot who was the guest of the American Legion while in the United States, has returned to his native land.

In a letter to National Commander John R. Quinn of the Legion, the great Polish warrior said that his pleasure in his visit was unbounded, and was an experience that he would always recall because of the association with his former comrades of the World war who had fought under the American flag.

General Haller's visit began early in October and continued until a few days before Christmas. His tour started with a visit to the White House and a visit to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington, across the continent to San Francisco, where he received highest honors at the hands of the American Legion. As the official guest of the organization, he was presented with the American Legion's Distinguished Service Medal, worn only by two Americans and by but four others—Marshal Foch of France, Admiral Beatty of England, General Jacques of Belgium, General Diaz of Italy.

Back across the nation with a party of representative Legion men, sped the great Polish patriot, to visit nearly fifty of America's greatest cities, where he was greeted by members of that organization, Polish colonies and many officials, statesmen and prominent persons.

Before his departure, General Haller expressed his deep satisfaction at the outcome of the visit, and deeply thanked the American Legion for the opportunity to see the nation. He said in his letter:

"What has given me the greatest pleasure has been the evidence on every hand that the American soldier who readily gave up his peaceful pursuits to don the uniform of his proud country and help put down oppression in Europe so quickly returned to the industrial and commercial occupations following the signing of the armistice. I have noted the happy homes, the contentment and the prosperity of those liberty-loving and unwarlike lads. It has been a constant inspiration to me. The officers of the many Legion posts, the officials of the organization are all enshrined in my heart."

Britisher Anxious to Be Legion Member

Harold Hall, a veteran of the British Royal engineers, who served on every British battle front from Mons to the Dardanelles, is looking forward to acceptance of his application by the American Legion. Hall was one of the first to learn of the new ruling made by the Legion at the fifth annual convention, which permits those who served with allied armies who were at the time citizens of the United States, or later became naturalized, to affiliate with the Legion.

Hall is a resident of Minneapolis, and applied for naturalization papers following his arrival in that city in January, 1923. His next step was to make application for Legion membership, but was told that he would be forced to wait until completion of naturalization requirements. He declares that every American World war veteran should avail himself of the opportunity to affiliate with the Legion.

Canada Would Have Legion Convention

Montreal seeks to entertain a national convention of the American Legion, according to an invitation sent to national headquarters of the veterans' organization through Legion officials in Canada.

The invitation was extended by Mayor Martin of Montreal, who declared that the entertainment of the former comrades of the British soldiers would give great pleasure to citizens of his country, as well as affording a means for more closely linking the people of the two nations.

The invitation was not received in time for consideration, however, as the Legion convention for 1924 had already been authorized for St. Paul, Victoria, B. C., another Canadian city, invited the veteran's organization to come there in 1924, this invitation being extended during the fifth national convention at San Francisco.

Would "Show" Them

Clarence R. Edwards, leader of the Yankee division in the World war, and now leading his former soldiers as department commander of the American Legion in Massachusetts, says that the Legion can become the finest body of men in America.

General Edwards, under whose guidance Legion interest has reached a high tide in his state, appealed to his comrades with the words:

"Just as soon as you show the non-Legionnaire—men who are now eligible—that the purpose of the organization is to be behind everything fine in civic life in every town and city, just so soon will you have the indorsement and backing of all your fellow citizens."

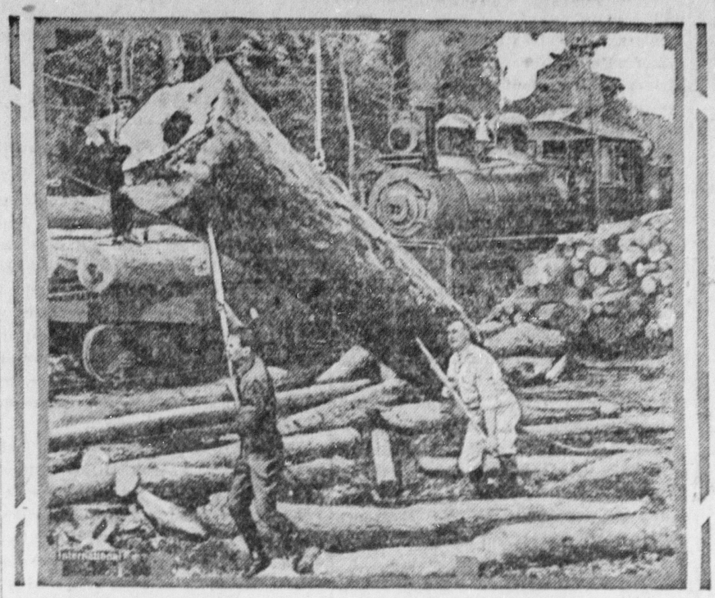
Him, Too

In a state of considerable excitement, the circus manager rushed up to Sam, the colored canvasman.

"We need a little help, Sam," he cried. "Four lions have escaped from cage five."

"'Scaped? ejaculated Sam. "Hol' dis hammer, boss. Dat's jes' zackly what Ah's gwine to do!"—American Legion Weekly.

Showing Them How to Log



Samuel T. Dana, left, director of the United States forest northwest experiment station, Amherst, Mass., and Chancellor Charles W. Flint, Syracuse university, were thus photographed showing them how to log in the Adirondacks. The two college men went about it like old-timers.

England to Have 52 Air Squadrons

Military Plans to Equal Strength of Other Nations.

New York.—The new British military aeronautical program contemplates the building of fifty-two squadrons of airplanes within the next three to five years, thereby placing England on equal strength with the air forces of other nations of Europe, the Duke of Sutherland, undersecretary of the British air ministry, said recently at the Ritz Carlton hotel. This program he said, was apart from the air activities of the dominions and was under the head of home defense.

The duke said that Britain was not engaged in any aerial armament race, but simply establishing an air force commensurate with the country's needs and position. He was certain that there was a greater interest in the strides England was taking in the development of civil aviation, disclosing that an ambitious program had been worked out tending toward the opening of commercial routes from London to leading cities of continental Europe and to Cairo, Egypt. England regards flying as essential to commerce as shipping, he added.

Firms to Get Subsidy.

The duke said the government recently had consummated an arrangement whereby three of the leading commercial air companies, which had combined, would receive a government subsidy, totaling £1,000,000. This subsidy would be extended over a ten-year period when he believed the lines would be self-sustaining.

"The purpose of my visit," he said, "is to study, as undersecretary of state for air, the manner in which the United States has undertaken the development of flying by establishing personal contact with the government air service and the industry through the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce. While I have yet, of course, to form my definite opinions, it would appear that the American aircraft industry had registered astounding achievements, unaided by subsidy, in developing aircraft performance to the end that most of the world records are now held by the United States.

"England looks upon flying as an economic contribution as essential to commerce as shipping. Aviation should not be regarded as a menace, to be curbed. Aviation ended England's insularity. England is now as much a part of continental Europe as France or Germany. England's effort is to develop commercial flying, and at the same time provide for its air defenses in proportion to the size and importance of the British Empire. The only thought of competition in the air which England entertains is commercial competition.

Interested in U. S. Mail Planes.

"England is especially interested in American aviation development in high speed, in carrying mails and express, and more recently, in developing airships. The American air mail experiment is unique and has attracted universal attention, particularly the experiments conducted in night flying last summer. England's airship program undoubtedly will be influenced by American initiative. The construction of your navy airship was a great engineering feat and the acquisition of German airship assistance a business stroke which is likely to have far-reaching effect.

"With regard to civil aviation, I believe we are ahead of America, partly, no doubt, on account of the subsidies the British government pays to operating firms. Rightly or wrongly, we believe in this policy for the purpose of fostering the growth of civil aviation at the start."

Accompanied by Group Captain M. G. Christie, air attache at the British embassy, the duke went to Mitchel field where he inspected the planes. Lieutenant A. J. ("Al") Williams, U. S. N., holder of the world speed record, greeted the visitor in behalf of the American aviators.

17,182 Deaths From Diabetes in Year

Washington. — Deaths from diabetes showed a considerable increase last year, it was shown by census bureau statistics. There were 17,182 deaths from diabetes in 1922, compared with 14,933 in 1921 and 14,062 in 1920, in the registration area, comprising 85 per cent of the country's population.

The death rate was 18.4 per 100,000 population last year, compared with 16.8 in 1921 and 16.8 in 1921 and 16.1 in 1920. New Hampshire had the highest rate, with 31.1 per 100,000 population, and Mississippi the lowest, with 7.3.

U. S. Navy Captain Bars Baby Elephant

Port Said, Egypt.—The American cruiser Concord put into port here recently. The vessel was greeted with salutes from the British and Egyptian authorities. The crew's nines played an exhibition baseball game before 10,000 native spectators.

Visitors were permitted on board the cruiser. Advantage of this was taken by many of the natives, who brought with them various gifts, among them a baby elephant. The captain, however, politely declined to accept the animal, explaining that the alien quota of the vessel was full.

Jail German Druggist Who Won't Accept Marks

Berlin.—Six months in jail and a fine of 10,000,000,000,000 marks was the sentence imposed on a Frankfort druggist for refusal to take paper marks in exchange for petroleum. He told the court he had to pay for the oil in some sort of stable money and consequently did not know how he could replenish his stock if he sold for paper marks.

Under the laws of the republic paper marks are legal tender and the judge had the druggist hustled off to jail immediately, explaining that such treatment of the dealer would have good effect on other merchants and afford the public protection.

Peaches Grow in Winter

Goldendale, Wash.—Juicy peaches picked from a tree in the garden orchard on his farm in the Carp lake district of the foothills of the Simcoe mountains, about seven miles northwest of Goldendale, were displayed here recently by Charlie Neal, pioneer homesteader of the Klickitat valley. Mr. Neal said he expects to have midwinter fruit fresh off the tree soon.

Imports Arouse Britons

London.—British hop growers are working together to prevent the importation of hops. It is said that 900,000 hundredweight of foreign hops came into the country during the last three years, and if this amount had been grown locally it would have given employment to 46,000 men at 45 shillings a week.

Black Sea Is Once More Pirate Haven

Scene of Piratical Operations in Days of the Romans.

Washington, D. C.—"History, the great repeater, is again functioning according to maxim, for the Black sea, on which a message reports a blood-and-thunder pirate attack recently took place, was the scene of piratical operations at various times from the days of the Romans through the Middle Ages and down to the Nineteenth century," says a bulletin of National Geographic society of Washington, D. C.

"Though the Black sea has few advantages for pirates, such as safe harbors and hidden recesses among small islands, in its waters was built, and from Constantinople at its outlet was operated, one of the most powerful pirate fleets known to history. When the great Sultan Suleiman the Magnificent wanted to acquire dominant power in the eastern basin of the Mediterranean, he sent for Khair-ed-din, the younger Barbarossa, who was the triumphant master of the western Mediterranean.

When Turkey Ruled the Seas.

"When the notorious old sea dog hove in sight with his Barbary fleet tricked out in all its flags and pennants, the greatest of the Ottoman emperors knew that this vigorous burly fighter, whose erstwhile red beard which had given him his name was now white, possessed just the qualities of leadership which he desired. In the Turkish dockyards at the mouth of the Black sea Khair-ed-din laid out his galleys and in the spring put out into the Mediterranean with 84 vessels to write the story of Turkish sea supremacy upon the map of Europe.

"The waters just beyond the mouth of the Black sea were a particularly favored haunt of pirates, because the numerous islands of the Aegean furnished a maze of straits and inlets in which they could escape from pursuit, just as the West Indies and the Windward islands of the Carribbean did for the buccaneers of the Seventeenth century in America, and through the Mediterranean lay most of the established trade routes of the world.

"But the Black sea itself, though it offered them few of the advantages they desired, was an excellent home base from which to operate and in which to store their ships. It has almost no harbors and its southern shores were skirted with mountains, with few ways of access to the interior. The buccaneers of the southern coast, however, used to pick up their boats when the winter season set in and take them on their shoulders into the mountains out of the way of harm.

Whence Its Name.

"The early Greek navigators dubbed it Axenus, meaning unfriendly to strangers, but when small Grecian cities began to spring up on its shores the sobriquet was changed to Euxinus, meaning friendly to strangers, and under that name, the Euxine, it has figured in history and mythology for centuries.

"The waters of the Black sea are unique among oceans and seas of the earth; indeed, the Euxine may almost be said to be sinister. Its depths are lifeless, and higher forms of life do not exist below 600 feet. It has a strong surface current toward the Bosporus, and an undercurrent flowing from the Aegean and the Sea of Marmora, to the east. The latter is heavy and saline. Though the Dnieper, Dniester, Bug, Don, and Danube rivers, from Europe, and the Kuban, Tchoruk, Sakaria, Yeshir Irmak, and Kizil Kimak from Asia have been pouring their fresh waters into it, that mighty undercurrent is responsible for the nearly 2 per cent of salt found in the waters of the Black sea. At great depths the salinity reaches 2.25 per cent.

A Biological Surmise.

"One biologist believes that when, during geologic ages, the union of the Black sea with the Aegean took place, the great rush of salt water through the Bosporus into the Black sea killed the fauna in its waters, and produced the sulphuretted hydrogen which exists in great quantities below the 100-fathom line. The waters that stand in the great depression of the floor, most of which lies between 6,000 and 7,000 feet below the surface, may be said to be stagnant.

"This immense body of water, 165,000 square miles in area, has several other peculiarities. It has a cold layer of water down between 25 and 50 fathoms, caused by the sinking of the heavy, cold surface upon the denser saltier water beneath. Such a condition confines most of the circulation of the waters to the upper portion of the sea and leaves the greater depths undisturbed, at a more or less uniform temperature, and free from any circulation of oxygen upon which fish and other marine life would depend."

FOR NATIONAL DELEGATE

We are authorized to announce the name of Ella J. Mountz, of Smithmill, Clearfield County, Pennsylvania, as a candidate for the office of Delegate to the Republican National Convention for the 23d Congressional District of Pennsylvania.

North and South in Congress.

(Communicated.)

Sudden political upheavals in our democratic form of government are frequently criticised and the question is asked as to whether it is better to change good and tried officials in office or retain them for a longer period of time. For instance, take men elected to our National House of Representatives at Washington. Some states continue to return their lawmakers as long as they make good representatives and give their attention to the affairs of the district back home. Consider for a moment, the Danville, Ill., district, which has been represented since the days of Abraham Lincoln by Joseph G. Cannon. Much of the power and influence gained for that congressional district was due to the fact that Mr. Cannon was continuously returned to Washington; thus, a man developed in experience brought returns to the district which it would not otherwise have enjoyed. Another illustration of this point was in the late Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania. Although he was criticised by many, yet, if anything was to be obtained for the state of Pennsylvania, either Democratic or Republican, the approval of Senator Penrose was sought for the simple reason that his long service gave him tremendous power in the front ranks. At his death, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, he was without a doubt, the most powerful man in Congress. It would seem to be of advantage to have the skilled, experienced man represent us at Washington instead of a new man every one or two terms, who, though of the highest type, must of necessity be unfamiliar with the national political ropes and unacquainted with Congressional procedure.

Frequently, we hear the words, "The South is in the saddle." Certainly she is. Why shouldn't she be? Politically in numbers she is far in the minority, but what she lacks in this is more than offset by the experience of her members of Congress, who manage through their training of years in the service to secure for their constituents much that they would not receive if they sent a new member every time Congress convened. For example, take Mr. Garrett, of Tennessee, the minority leader in the House of Representatives, and Mr. Simmons, of North Carolina, in the Senate. Both men have been returned constantly by their districts for years and, naturally enough, gain practically any point for the folks back home.

Whether Democracy is in the majority or minority makes little difference to the South. Her Congressmen through continued acquaintance with public men are veterans in the game. The North, East and West may have their upheavals, but the South? Never. And the result? The experienced men in Congress are the Southern men.

Let us not criticise or be jealous of the South for being in the saddle; our chances for getting there are equally as sure as hers, but we ignore them through our lack of knowledge of the policical game as it is intelligently played. We allow petty animosities and personal gains blind us to the true issue; and in so doing we only spite ourselves. Before we can catch up to the South, we must have intelligent voting; before intelligent voting we must have a thorough knowledge of the qualities of the candidate, and before that, we must be broad-minded and think of the good that will come to the home district in wise, loyal voting such as we see in Dixieland, and not the policy of voting against a man on account of some imaginary grievance.

Child Labor Days.

Word comes from Washington that members of the new Congress are already focussing their attention upon the drafting of a Child Labor Amendment to the Federal Constitution. This activity on the part of Congress is a direct result of the aroused sentiment of thousands of people throughout the country that the child labor conditions which have so long been a blot upon our civilization must go.

People in the United States have protested against the indignity of the child labor for many years—but child labor remains. The census of 1920 showed 1,060,858 children between 10 and 15 at work in the United States. But that figure would be a mild statement for the the conditions existing right now. The 1920 census was taken while the Federal Child Labor Tax Law, which materially restricted the employment of child labor in every state in the Union, was in effect. But in 1922 that Federal Law was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court and the regulation of child labor was thrown back entirely upon the consciences of the individual states. The result is a mass of forty eight different child labor codes in this country, having little relation to each other.

And more than that, the result is a definite increase in the number of children employed in all parts of the nation now that the Federal ban no longer exists. Children who should be in school are working in factories, on industrialized farms, in tenement sweatshops, on city streets—are losing precious education and the playtime of childhood simply because their elders are not yet sufficiently enlightened to protect them and train them in the formative period of their lives.

There will be opportunity for discussion of the Child Labor Amendment and of the child labor question in general on January 26th, 27th and 28th, which will be set aside nationally as Child Labor Days. For many years the National Child Labor Committee has sponsored the annual observance of Child Labor Day, realizing the necessity for a popular understanding of this problem which has such a vital bearing upon the future life of our country. If, as is confidently predicted, the bill for the Child Labor Amendment to the Federal Constitution is passed by the present Congress, the responsibility for making it a part of our law will be up to the popular vote of the individual states. Every one of us will have to register his opinion upon the advisability of the Child Labor Amendment. Child Labor Day will help to show the way.

The National Child Labor Committee, which is located in New York City, publishes a wide range of material on the subject of child labor.

FARMERS MEETINGS

Will Be Held in Five Communities in County.

During the next few weeks the county farm agent, J. N. Robinson, will hold a series of meetings in 5 different communities of Centre County. These meetings will be similar to the ones held last winter and of interest to all farmers and their families, having been arranged to take the place of the farmers' institutes, which were very popular in Centre County until discontinued by the department of agriculture 3 years ago.

The first of the series will be poultry meetings conducted by H. D. Monroe, head of the poultry extension work in Pennsylvania, and will be given Monday evening, Jan. 28, at 7:30, at Pine Grove Mills school house. Other dates are: Tuesday, Jan. 29, at 7:30, at the Gentzel school house; Wednesday, Jan. 30, at 7:30, at Halfmoon Grange Hall; Thursday, Jan. 31, at 7:30, at Spring Mills Vocational School; Friday, Feb. 1, at 7:30, at Rebersburg school house.

The same plan will be followed this year as last—meeting on the same night each week for at least 5 consecutive weeks will be at each one of the above places. For example, every Monday evening there will be a meeting at Pine Grove Mills, every Wednesday evening at the Halfmoon Grange Hall, and so on for the other 3 places. The very best men available have been secured for these meetings. Each one is a specialist in his particular line of work and has a real message for Centre County farmers.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors will be held on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Yearly reports and reports of special committees will be presented.

On Friday evening the Y. M. C. A. team will bowl against State College on the local alleys. A match between the Tyrone R. R. Y. M. C. A. and the locals is scheduled for February 7th.

The Hi-Y Club will hold its monthly open session on the first Sunday in February. Special speakers from State College will be here.

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 30th, a basket ball game between the Phi Kappa Alpha team of State College and the Y. Sr. team, at 8:30, in the gymnasium. On Feb. 22nd the Y. team goes to Lock Haven and on the 29th of February they play Lock Haven here.

OVER THE COUNTY

Officers were installed on Saturday evening at Progress Grange in Penn's valley.

John Bubb is seriously ill at his home in Colyer, a victim of "flu", few cases of which have been reported this year.

A number of our readers are in Harrisburg this week to attend the State Farm Products Show.

Mrs. Frank D. Lee, of Centre Hall, who has been seriously ill, is reported in a semi delirious condition. No improvement in her condition has been noted.

The Daniel Ripka property at Spring Mills was sold recently to R. H. Shook for $2,000. The farm and timberland in the mountains was sold to B. W. Ripka for $1,000.

John Fisher, of Bellefonte, for many years the popular baggage master on the Lewisburg train through Penn's valley, has been ill at his home, the result of a slight stroke.

A delightful surprise was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Boal, at Potters Mills, on the 50th birthday anniversary of Mr. Boal. Many friends gathered and spent a joyous evening.

Among the recent contributions to the Ladies Civic Club of Millheim for the new town hall was a check for $100 from Simon Michlovitz, of Harrisburg, and and $5 each from Mr. and Mrs. Israel Michlovitz, of Millheim.

Charles Shultz, who resides near Farmers Mills, in the vicinity of the "Swamp" church, was found in an unconscious condition in the woods near his home, where he had gone to cut wood. He was taken to his home, where he has since been confined.

The new municipal building in Millheim is progressing spendidly. The plasterers and carpenters will soon have their work completed. The installation of the steam heating plant is also almost completed. New 20-inch opera chairs, the stage curtains and 2 motion picture machines have also been contracted for. It is planned to have things in shape so the auditorium may be opened about the middle of February.

Several Bucknell students in a Ford car met with misfortune in a collision in Millheim on Jan. 13. The student driver was making his Ford do all it could, it was said, and apparently was not familiar with a street intersection until the Dodge car, driven by William Hagan, of Spring Mills, appeared. The Ford was damaged considerably. The drivers had a verbal combat on the street, after which the Ford was towed to a garage for repairs and Mr. Hagan drove away in his Dodge.

Two former county treasurers, George Fink and Dr. F. K White, are among the new members in the Town Council of Philipsburg.

J. K. Reish purchased recently at public sale the timber rights on a tract of 16 acres, from the heirs of Jacob J. Gentzel, the consideration being $5,456.

A box social under auspices of the Junior class of the Gregg Twp. Vocational School at Spring Mills held last Friday evening was largely attended.

Mrs. Wallace White was pleasantly surprised in honor of her 40th birthday anniversary when a number of friends invaded her home west of Centre Hall on Jan. 12.

A tree fell on the wires of the Keystone Power Corporation, in the mountains near Centre Hall recently, and all patrons east of Pleasant Gap were out of service for several hours.

Three house cats and a dog died from poison in Millheim recently. The residents believe some person has been scattering rat poison without care and the cats and dog got some of the poison.

An effort is being made to have chairs in the new municipal building at Millheim purchased by individuals and is meeting with success. Some of those approached have taken 2 chairs, the price being $4 each.

One of the large state highway trucks used in hauling stone from Coburn, was damaged considerably by fire one day recently. The gasoline tank was being filled and the motor was left running. The gasoline ignited and burned the front part of the truck so badly it was put out of commission.

The annual meeting of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co. was held last week and the reports indicated a substantial increase in business. Officers were re-elected. Two changes were made in the board of directors on account of the death of R. H. Reed and the voluntary retirement of Frank McFarlane, of Boalsburg. The new directors selected were: T. M. Huey, of Scotia, and Frank E. Wieland, of Centre Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bedylon, tenants on the farm of Dr. A. G. Lieb, east of Centre Hall, have brightened their comfortable home by bringing into it two chubby boys secured at an orphanage which they visited recently in Pittsburgh. The one boy is 13 months old and was the choice of Mr. Bedlyon. The choice of Mrs. Bedlyon was a boy 2 months old. The little adopted sons will share the big farm home with Mr. and Mrs. Bedlyon and their daughter, who is about 15 years old.

Wallace E. Camp Dead.

Wallace E. Camp, a native of Centre Hall, died on Monday morning at 4:45 o'clock in the Altoona Hospital, where he had taken treatment for one week. The deceased was the senior member of the firm of the Camp Furniture Co., of Tyrone, where he had resided for a number of years. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs William R Camp, born in Centre Hall on July 26, 1883. The parents formerly resided at Centre Hall for many years, where the father was engaged as an undertaker and furniture dealer, being very successful. The Camp boys were reared in that place and the family was well known throughout Penn's valley. They moved from Centre Hall to Tyrone, going from there to Milroy in a short time, but soon returning and had since, for about 30 years, been engaged in the furniture business in Tyrone, where they were also widely known and held in high esteem. On May 2, 1913, Wallace Camp married Miss Bernadine Hoover. Beside the aged parents and his widow, there survives one brother, Harry, of Leechburg, Va., and one sister, Miss Lou Camp, at home. Deceased was a member of Blue Lodge, F. & A. M., Jaffa Shrine, Williamsport Consistory, B. P. O. E., Jr. O. U. A. M. and the Presbyterian church. Funeral services were held this Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Burial was made in Grandview cemetery.

Mrs. Annie Stover Dead.

Mrs. Annie E. Stover, widow of Emory J. Stover, died in the Clearfield Hospital on Wednesday of last week. Deceased was born at Marengo, this county, on May 17, 1860, a daughter of Henry and Susanna Stevens. She was united in marriage on Christmas day, 1879, to Mr. Stover, who died on Feb. 5, 1916. Surviving are the following children: Mrs. C. A. Geist, of WarriorsMark; Henry Paul, of Altoona; Emory Frank, of Philadelphia; Mrs. A. J. Culler, of Hiram, O., and the following brothers and sisters: George Stevens and Mrs. Martha Blake, of Port Matilda; Blair and Frank, of Kermoor; Lloyd, of Tyrone; Vincent, of Pennsylvania Furnace; James, of WarriorsMark; Charles, of Ansonville, and A. J., of Marietta. Deceased was a member of the M. E. church of WarriorsMark. Funeral services were held on Sunday and burial made at Grandview cemetery in Tyrone.

Mrs. Sarah A. Lucas Dead.

Mrs. Sarah A. Lucas, wife of A. L. Lucas, of Altoona, and a native of Centre County, died at her home on Saturday morning from pleuro-pneumonia, after a short illness. The deceased was born Dec. 21, 1879, a daughter of Jacob and Maria Yarnell. She was married to Mr. Lucas on Sept. 13, 1890. Surving are the husband and the following children: Mrs. Della Snowberger, of Lakemont Terrace; Samuel, Theodore, Ruth, Bertha, Kenneth and Donald. Two children, Weldon and Mary, preceded their mother to the grave. Two brothers and four sisters also survive as follows: Clayton, of Bellefonte; Claude, of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs Harry Harnish, of Snow Shoe; Mrs. Adeline Poorman and Mrs. Ira B. Confer, of Yarnell, and Mrs. Cora Baney, of Howard.

George S. Weaver Dead.

George S. Weaver, of Spring Mills, died last Thursday from hardening of the arteries. Deceased was a native of Centre County and was 67 years old on May 21. He was a son of Samuel and Mary Weaver, pioneer residents of Penn's valley. His wife, whose maiden name was Sallie Bair, survives with the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Irvin Evert, Russell, and Mrs. Miles Vonada, of Nittany; Mrs. W. W. Smith, of Spring Mills; Mrs. Harry Gilmour, of Lewistown; Mrs. James Fromm, of Centre Hall; Samuel and Charles, at home. Two brothers, Howard, of Madisonburg, and Frank, of Bellefonte, and one sister, Mrs. Lewis Rossman, of Spring Mills, also survive. Burial was made on Tuesday in Heckman's cemetery at Millheim.

Mrs. Harriet Seller Dead.

Mrs. Harriet Seller, a former resident of Bellefonte, died very unexpectedly at her home in Lock Haven after retiring on Monday evening. Her death was discovered on Tuesday morning when she failed to get about as customary. The deceased was a native of Clinton County and was 59 years old. Surviving are the following children: Press, William, Orvis, Howard, Charles, of Lock Haven; Jasper, of Atlantic City. One daughter, Lulu, preceded her mother to the grave. Mrs. Joseph Smoyer, of Pleasant Gap, and Mrs. Mary Cushing, Bellefonte, are sisters of the deceased. Burial in Lock Haven.

Samuel W. Fleming Dead.

Samuel Wilson Fleming, one of the oldest residents of Pine Grove Mills, died yesterday morning at 7 o'clock from a stroke of paralysis which he suffered on Sunday. Deceased was born in Belleville, Mifflin County, on April 4, 1848. He was a farmer and served 1 year as County Commissioner in Mifflin County. For the past 3 years he resided at Pine Grove Mills. Surviving are his widow and 3 sons: Samuel L. and Joseph O., of Pine Grove Mills, and Dr. Edward Fleming, of Boston, Mass. Funeral services will be held on Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock and burial made at Pine Grove Mills.

Mrs. Hannah Emigh Dead.

Mrs. Hannah Emigh, wife of Jacob Emigh, a Civil war veteran, died last Saturday a. 2:30 A. M. at the home of her daughter, Nora, at Tyrone, after a brief illness from pneumonia. She was a daughter of J. C. Grady, pioneer settler of Moorsville, where she was born in 1842. In 1861, she was united in marriage to Jacob Emigh. Practically all their married life was spent there. She was the mother of five daughters and one son. Sue was a lifelong member of the Presbyterian church and a teacher in the Sunday School. Surviving are the following daughters: Mary and Nora, of Tyrone; Mrs. Robeson, of Warriors Mark and Mrs. W. A. Frank, of Pine Grove Mills. James and Mrs. Thomas are dead. Since the death of her husband, six years ago, she divided her time between her daughters. Two sisters also survive: Mrs. Rudy and Mrs. Cowley, of Penn's Furnace; 32 grand-children and 6 great grand-children. Funeral services were held on Monday at 1:30 P. M. from the home of Edward Frank, in the Glades. Burial was made in the Pennsylvania Furnace cemetery.

Mrs. Samuel Cupp Dead.

Mrs. Annie M. Cupp, wife of Samuel Cupp, died in the Altoona hospital on Tuesday afternoon. The body was brought to Bellefonte yesterday and funeral services will be held from the home of John Mong, at Pleasant Gap. Deceased was born at Huntingdon Furnace, Feb. 21, 1844, a daughter of Jacob and Nancy Rice. Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Jane Campbell, and one brother, Harper Rice, both of Bellefonte.

Porter Woomer Dead.

Porter Woomer, who formerly resided in Taylor Twp., died at the home of his daughter in Kane on Saturday, Jan. 12, aged 82 years. His wife preceded him to the grave about one year ago. Deceased is survived by eleven children, two brothers, Abednego, of Vail; Martin, of Altoona, and one sister, Mrs. Harper Rice, of Bellefonte. Interment was made at Kane on Tuesday, Jan. 15.

Skull Crushed.

Wilson A. Hepner, a young man of Shamokin, employed on a wire stringing job near Lock Haven, died in the Lock Haven Hospital from a fracture at the base of his skull. His skull was fractured when a glass insulator fell from the hand of one of the workmen who was at the top of a pole, and hit him on the back of the head, Hepner being in a stooped position.

Law Was Misunderstood.

Members of the new state highway patrol have no authority to stop cars in which more than two persons are occupying the front seat and ordering the third person to get out and walk, according to an announcemet just sent to the patrolmen by Registrar Ben G. Euyon, of the state automobile division of the state highway department. The announcement also carries with it an order prohibiting patrolmen from stopping cars where several persons are riding on one seat, excepting where there is evidence of reckless driving due to the crowding. Quite a stir was created some months ago by state officers stopping cars in this vicinity and along the Nittany highway for having more than 2 persons on the front seat. As a result, protests were filed in Harrisburg and Mr. Eynon's ruling was made.

The American Flag.

There is but one Federal Statute which protects the Flag throughout the country from desecration. This law provides that a trade mark cannot be registered which consists of or comprises the Flag, coat of-arms or other insignia of the United States or any simulation thereof. Congress has also enacted legislation providing certain penalties for the desecration, mutilation or improper use of the Flag within the District of Columbia.

In adopting the Flag Code, at the Flag Conference, emphasis was laid on the following suggestions for State legislation regarding the Flag.

"Based upon the opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States rendered by Justice John Marshall Harlan, every state should enact adequate laws for the protection of the National Flag. State Flag Laws should include the following:

1. That June 14, Flag Day, be set apart by proclamation of the Governor recommending that Flag Day be observed by people generally by the display of the Flag of the United States and in such other ways as will be in harmony with the general character of the day.

2. That the Flag of the United States be displayed on the main administration building of each public institution.

3. That the Flag of the United States with staff or flag pole be provided for each school house and be displayed during school days either from a flag staff or in inclement weather within the school building.

4. That the Flag of the United States be displayed in every polling place.

5. That the use of the Flag of the United States as a receptacle for receiving, holding, carrying or delivering anything be prohibited.

6. That the use of the Flag for advertising purposes in any manner be prohibited.

7. That the penalty (fine and imprisonment) be provided for public mutilation, abuse, or desecration of the Flag.

The Code recommends that bunting of the national colors should be used for covering speaker's desks, draping over front of platform and for decoration in general. Bunting should be arranged with the blue above, the white in the middle and the red below.

During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the Flag or when the Flag is passing in review, the Code recommends that all persons present should stand at attention facing the Flag. Men's headdress should be removed with the right hand and held at the left shoulder. Those present in uniform should salute with the right hand. Women should stand at attention, facing the Flag, as the Flag is passing in parade, salute by placing the right hand over the heart. If the National Anthem is played and no Flag is present, all stand at attention when uncovered and salute at the first note of the Anthem, retaining the position until the last note of the Anthem is played. If in civilian dress and covered, men should uncover and stand at attention, facing the music. Women should stand at attention and salute.

The pledge to the Flag is as follows: "I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." "The Star Spangled Banner" is recommended for universal recognition as the National Anthem.

H. L. Dale and wife, with their two sons, Jack and Charley, motored over from Bellefonte and spent Sunday afternoon at the Fred Fry home at Fairbrook.

Miss Esther Sparr, of Millersburg, is visiting relatives in the valley, State College and Boalsburg for several weeks.

Among those from this section who are attending the 8th annual Farm Products Show and Fair, held in Harrisburg, this week, are: Homer Grubb, J. S. Osman, Charles Campbell, C. H. Myers and son Paul, and Miss Verna Krebs, the last named is making an extended visit with her father in the capital city.

Misses Nida and Ruth Lytle, of State College, spent the Sabbath day with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smeltzer, at Pine Hall.

After an illness of 4 months at her home on Church St., Miss Nannie Bailey is slowly recovering.

Miss Margaret Slagel was taken to the Bellefonte hospital on Friday to submit to an operation for appendicitis.

N. E. Hess is manipulating the wheel on a new Packard Six sedan. Its a beaut.

Dr. George B. Goheen, of Coalport, recently made several professional visits to his parental home at Baileyville to his sister, who has been seriously ill. She is now slightly improved and hopes of her recovery are entertained.

Paul Ward came over from Tyrone on Sunday morning to spend the day at the parental home at Baileyville.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wagner, of Juniata, were over Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. W. K. Corl at White Hall.

Dr. Stork left a dear little daughter at the Harry S. Illingsworth home. The happy family now boasts of a son and daughter. On the same trip he left a daughter at the H. E. Witmer home and Grandpa O'Bryan is puffing 2 fors over the event.

L. D. Neidigh is loading 3 cars with $1.05 wheat for the eastern market.

P. M. Corl and wife, with Mrs. Belle Kimport, and Mac Fry and wife, attended the funeral of little Kenneth Bryan, 10 months old, at Tyrone last Friday. Mrs. Bryan was formerly May Goss, one of Ferguson Township's successful school teachers.

Misses Maude and Gertie Miller spent Thursday evening at Rock Springs.

Martin O'Neill, Joe Gilliland's right-hand man on the farm last season, resigned recently and on Friday flitted to Broad Top, where he intends mining.

Miss Pauline Porter, who was taken to the Bellefonte Hospital, is improving some, which her friends are glad to hear.

William Shaffer, of Mifflinburg, spent a few days last week with his brother-in-law, L. E. Swartz, and other friends.

Rev. Bright, of Topeka, Kans., spent last week at the home of Mrs. L. H. McAuley, and other friends. Rev. Bright has been visiting in Pennsylvania for several months.

Russell Heckman and Fred Hayes were sent to Harrisburg on Tuesday to attend the State Products Show.

Port Matilda

The boosters of good roads are just a little quiet now—waiting on Hon. H. B. Scott and Senator Snyder, of Blair Co., to get a date with Highway Commissioner P. D. Wright, in Harrisburg, to meet him with petitions and representatives from along the Bald Eagle valley. We hope these gentlemen will soon get that date with Mr. Wright and that when they come back, every person will be pleased to hear their story of encouragement that we will get some concrete highway in this valley.

We were surely surprised by another severe cold snap. You ought to see the plumber get busy after a cold spell. Everybody wants him first.

The young folks of this place, a few from Tyrone and a few from Sandy Ridge, had a very nice party at the John Thomas home, up on the farm, on Saturday evening.

C. E. Woodring and family, of the Woodring & Greene sales agency for the Durant and Star cars of this place, drove to Altoona on Saturday to have repairs made on one of their cars. Owing to Saturday being a very busy day, they did not return until Monday evening.

The funeral of Abram Cowher, on Wednesday, was largely attended. Deceased was one of our well known residents. He was born and raised here. He had been making his home with his father and sister. For some time he had suffered from consumption, lingering until Monday, when he answered the final summons.

Mrs. Daniel Woodring, who had been ill for several weeks, has gone to her long resting place, departing this life on Monday, January 14th. Burial was made on Friday in the cemetery by the United Brethren church at Black Oak. About two years ago, her husband one day, while hauling props, was returning home after unloading a load of props and died suddenly on his wagon. His death occurred in town and several men saw him fall. They stopped his team and took him into the hotel, but death had come instantly. We know not at what hour the Son of Man is coming to call us.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lytle went to Altoona to visit her daughter, Mrs. Ella Williams, on Christmas. Then she went to Lock Haven to visit with another daughter on New Year's. While there, she became very sick but has gotten much better. They brought her home on Thursday and she is getting along very nicely.

A birthday party was held in honor of J. Thompson Henry, at Martha, last Thursday evening. They must have had a jolly good time or lots to eat, either or both. Anyway, the persons who went from here did not reach home until nearly 4 o'clock on Friday morning. That's bad enough for young folks but much more strenuous for old folks.

The motion picture show on Thursday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall was very largely attended; mostly farmers who had been notified to come on farming, feeding and raising sheep, cattle, hogs and poultry. A very delightful and entertaining evening was enjoyed with much encouragement to the farmers to see in a picture what could be done on the farm where they make a success of farming.

Those who helped to celebrate David Campbell's 75th birthday, at the home of his sister, Mrs. Nannie Gilliland, on Friday were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Elmer Campbell, of Linden Hall; Mrs. George Mitchell, of Lemont; Misses Mary Struble and Olive Mitchell, of Bellefonte; Harry McCracken and sisters, of Pennsylvania Furnace. Mrs. Alexander and son Joe, of Unionville; Mrs. W. A. Ferree and the Gilliland family, of this place.

Miss Bessie Coble, of Lock Haven, spent the weekend at the home of her parents.

Snap Shots from Snow Shoe — and — Krumbs from Klarence.

The home talent play, "An Arizona Cowboy," at the Pastime Theatre in Snow Shoe on Tuesday evening was attended by a large and appreciative audience.

Miss Laura Banks, one of our popular hello girls, entertained her friend, Miss Kate McGowan, chief operator at Bellefonte, on Wednesday afternoon.

Those who attended the social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. O'Brien, of Snow Shoe, report a very enjoyable time. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. William Sickle, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Ross, Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. Chas. Weaver, Mrs. John Howell, Mrs. Dale Swartz, Mrs. Wm. Houser, Mrs. James Uzzle, Mrs. M. D. Long, Mrs. Gertrude Reese, Mrs. Mary Whiteman, Mrs. Neruda Swartz, Mrs. Lena Etters, Mrs. Geo. F. Brown, and the Misses Anne McGowan, Edna George, Emma Miller, Elsie and Velda Etters, and Messrs John Uzzle, Walter Healey, Harold White and James Swartz.

Congratulations are being received by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Houser on the birth of a son on Friday morning.

Mrs. Grant Kessling went to New York on Sunday evening to visit with her daughter Clara.

Robert Shives, of Clarence, was delightfully surprised on last Friday evening when many friends gathered at the Shives' home in honor of his 21st birthday anniversary. Delicious refreshments were served and a most enjoyable evening spent. Those present were: The Misses Elsie and Velda Etters, Anne McGowan, Justina and Christine Lorah, Catherine and Margaret Morgan, Amelia Gunsallus, Mardie Gezling, Erma Miller, Sadie Houser, Clara Sullivan and Dorothy Shives; Messrs. Fred Smith, Harold White, Walter Healey, Dick Devling, Hugh Morgan, Blair McCloskey, Lloyd McGee, Harry and Robert Shives.

Mr. and Mrs. Art. Shank motored to Clearfield to visit her sister, Mrs. Smith.

A nice congregation attended services at the Presbyterian church on Sunday when a new candidate filled the pulpit.

Mrs. R. B Daughterty died on Tuesday after a brief illness. The Daugherty family resided here a number of years. They moved from here to California where they remained a short time, then came back to Lock Haven, and last fall moved to Bellefonte, where they had been occupying the W. H. Macker home while Mr. and Mrs. Macker were in Florida. Surviving are the husband and several daughters.

Mrs. Valera Bateman and two small children, of Ontario, Can., are visiting here with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Osewalt. Mrs. Bateman had the sad misfortune of her husband dying last summer. She will remain here indefinitely.

Zion

Kermit Noll, a student at Bucknell, spent Sunday with his parents at this place.

Epley Gentzel traded his Studebaker touring car and now enjoys riding in a Studebaker sedan.

The Reformed people have chosen a new pastor, Rev. Hartman, from Buffalo Valley, who will be here to take charge of his work in a short time. This charge has been without a pastor for a long while.

Ward Krape's Sunday School class will hold their regular monthly meeting next Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. John Hockman.

Last Sunday morning, Sunday School was well attended, 98 being present.

Last Thursday, while Earl Vonada was sawing wood for Harry Rockey, his clothing caught in the shafting of the engine. While he was being whirled about, in some way, he struck the switch box and disconnected the switch, but before the engine stopped running his clothing was nearly all torn from his body. He was taken to his home and a doctor summoned, but no bones were broken and no other serious injuries, except a soreness that is slowly leaving.

REVIVAL SERVICES

Special Meetings Begin Sunday in United Brethren Church.

A series of revival meetings will be held in the United Brethren church, corner West High and Thomas Sts., beginning on Sunday, Jan. 27, and continuing each evening during the week, excepting Saturday. Rev. F. B. Hackett, the pastor, will preach.

Rev. Hackett is a graduate of Bonebrake Theological Seminary, of Dayton, O. He is a fearless speaker and preaches the entire gospel with the old-time ring. Services each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Sunday morning, 10:30, "When a Man Sees God; 7:30, "Christian Nurture and Training of Our Young People;" Monday, "Effective Prayer;" Tuesday, "A Rebuilded Altar;" Wednesday, "Getting Ready to Drink;" The Best Way to Advertise; Friday, "A Meal in Jail." This Sunday, the 27th, is Brotherhood night. Reserved seats for men of the Brotherhood. All men are especially invited to this service.

Fell into Icy Water.

William Cook, a student in the Beech Creek High School, on Monday morning was trying out the ice along the creek near his home. The ice broken and the youth went into the icy cold water up to his neck. While the temperature was below zero, he managed to get out of the water and into his home quickly, where a change of clothing was made promptly and he seems to be none the worse, but much wiser, for his experience.

"MILLIONS NOW LIVING WILL NEVER DIE!"

MILLIONS are longing for better days,
In which they may labor in peace;
NOW they're surrounded by numerous frays,
Which, sad to say, daily increase.
LIVING, not dying, each mortal now craves;
Yet tears takes the place of a song.
WILL God let them ever continue as slaves?
Will right never triumph o'er wrong?
NEVER fear, Comrades brave, God's plan well provides
For all of your longings, and much more besides.
DIE, this will cease, O'er the HARP OF GOD scan
And rejoice in the blessings soon coming to man.

"Millions Now Living Will Never Die!"—A book of 128 pages; a complete report of Judge J. F. Rutherford's Lecture; with over 400 Scriptural proofs, 25 cents postpaid.

THE HARP OF GOD—A book of 384 pages, handsomely bound in cloth, explaining the ten fundamental doctrines of the Bible and the reason why prophecy is now being fulfilled; a complete statement of how the peoples will get life everlasting, peace and happiness; together with a course of Bible study with 12 lessons. 48 cents.

Proof That Robin Hood Really Existed Found

Recent colliery developments in Sherwood forest have unearthed proofs that Robin Hood, the famous outlaw of story, had an actual existence, and that he really practiced the profession of philanthropic highwayman, robbing the rich so as to be able to help the poor.

Doubts had within recent times been thrown on the old-time tradition, but current researches of busy antiquarians and folk-lore experts now show beyond doubt that Robin was not only a very live wire, but that his chief exploits were carried out in the neighborhood of Newstead abbey, the home of Lord Byron.

The documents discovered go to show that the bandit actually did woo and win for his bride the fair Maid Marian of Bidworth, that he jousted with the jovial Friar Tuck, according to the story.

It is said that Robin Hood's top-boots are at Annesley hall, near Newstead, and that last century his bow and some of his broad arrows were claimed to be in the possession of residents at Fountain Dale.

Robin Hood died in 1247 at Kirklees, Yorkshire, Hathersage, in Derbyshire, claims the last resting place of little John.—London Tit-Bits.

His Kind Act

The Sunday school teacher was telling her class that they ought to do at least one act each week to make some one else happy.

Turning to one boy, she said, "Have you made anyone happy this week, Robbie?"

"Yes, miss," the boy replied. "I went to see my aunt, and she was happy when I left."

What We Forget Between 15 and 50

Schools teach, and nearly every home applies the rule against coffee and tea for children.

When middle age comes, a great many people remember the facts about the caffeine drug of coffee and tea, and how its regular use may disturb health. Often they have cause to remember what it has done to them.

How much better it would be not to forget—and avoid the penalties!

Postum is a pure cereal beverage—delightful, and safe for any age—at any time. Good for breakfast at home, for all the family; good for lunch at the club or restaurant; good with the evening meal; good with a late night dinner—good on any occasion. Postum satisfies, and it never harms.

Why not be friendly with health, all the time?

Postum

for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

HARVEST MOON

By RIVIERA HERSEY

(©, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

EUNICE walked down the path that led to her front gate, her usually merry face marred by a frown, and her little heels digging fiercely into the gravel on the walk. Climbing into the little brown car that stood in the road, she slammed the door after her with a bang. Then, with one more angry glance at the letter, she crushed it into her pocket, threw out the clutch, and letting it in again with a force that somewhat matched her feelings, sent the little roadster forward with a jerk.

She stopped at the grade crossing, and taking out the letter while waiting, read it through once more. As she turned the page, unconsciously a tender light came into her eyes; "—and I know you will be glad to hear that while I was in the neighborhood I went over to the sanitarium to see Jim Harold. Well, all I can say is that the doctors and the baths and treatments have all done their best for him.

"You remember, he said he would try the treatments for six months, whether for weal or for woe, but a terrible wound such as Jim received, added to the hardship of life in the trenches for such a very long time, can do an awful lot of harm, and when you remember that a fellow hasn't been able to walk for nearly eight months—why, he needs a lot of curing."

Eunice's face was very thoughtful.

The sound of her horn brought Grace and Aunt Jane out to meet her, and the three worked busily putting in place all the ears of corn, sumach, place cards and other decorations for the evening. Eunice saved her disappointing news for the very end.

"I shall have to come back alone," she announced as she climbed into the little roadster once more; "Joe sent word this morning that he couldn't possibly get here—at least, not till very late. It's a shame," as she noted the way Grace Harold's face fell.

"Yes, it is too bad," agreed Grace, trying to speak nonchalantly, "and not to have Jim here, either. Poor fellow."

* * * * * * *

"I've a wonderful game to play," whispered Grace in excitement, as Eunice slipped out of her wraps that evening. "It's one that Jim and I used to play when we were youngsters. It's a secret—even from you," and she rushed away to welcome her guests who were just arriving.

A merry, light-hearted group of young folks they were and how they did enjoy themselves. Aunt Jane felt herself growing young once more, and when they had come to the inevitable lull, and even the gayest seemed to lag, she stepped into the breach at once.

"Outdoors, all of you," she commanded, laughingly. "Now, draw lots."

"Who drew the longest strip?" asked Aunt Jane, breaking into the silence.

Eunice held out the paper.

Then Aunt Jane explained:

"Go down into the orchard until you are out of sight of the house. Hold this mirror in your hand, and, letting the moonlight fall over your left shoulder, repeat this rhyme three times. Then look in the glass and the the face of the man you are to marry will look out at you."

So, laughing, Eunice tripped off. Shutting her eyes, she recited rapidly:

Under the Harvest Moon here I stand,
Magic mirror in my hand,
Moonbeams so full in a sky so clear,
Pray let me see in the mirror here
The face of the man who will some day be
The dearest in all the world to me.

So intent was she in getting through with this Peter Piper performance that she did not hear the click of the orchard gate nor the soft swish of footsteps over the pine needles, and with a little scream Eunice dropped the mirror and covered her eyes as a deep, familiar voice behind her repeated softly:

Under the Harvest sky, lo, I stand.
Brought hither, fair lady, at thy command,
For the moon that is shining away up there
Never shone on a face more wondrous fair.
And my life will never quite happy be
Till it's dearest in all this world to me.

And as if to convince her that he was more than thin air, two hands turned Eunice around to confront the impromptu poet.

"Oh, Jim," she gasped, "it is weal, it is weal, I am so glad!"

"Yes," said the man, his voice trembling with emotion, "it is weal, and now I can tell you what I have wanted to tell you for ages, but dared not until I knew I should be well again. Eunice, dear, the harvest moon is shining—won't you give me the welcome home I have been longing for?"

And with a half sob the girl went into his outstretched arms.

* * * * * * *

Back at the house, Joe, making his late appearance, went searching for the guests.

"Where's Eunice?" he asked, as he missed her.

"Why, she went down into the orchard to keep an engagement with a gentleman," answered one of the boys, "and, by Jove, she didn't go for nothing," he added, excitedly, as two figures came slowly up the path.

NOVELTY IN STOCKINGS

Miss Hortense O'Brien of Hollywood, Cal., introduces a novel idea which may give stocking manufacturers something to think about. It is "wrap stockings," using ribbon in the manner that was introduced by the army wrap leggings. The "wrap stockings" are more economical than silk stockings in both cost and wear.

HOW TO REMAIN YOUNG

Jane Martin, first woman vice president of the Advertising Clubs of the World, who claims that a woman can be young at fifty. It is simply a state of mind. When a woman can adjust her mind to new experiences, be able to change her viewpoint, and absorb, assimilate and give back to the social group the traits that make for richer living—then she is young regardless of her age.

Indiana Girl Is a Plucky Farmer

Miss Velma Hulett, fourteen years old, of Warrick county, Indiana, has been nominated as the Central West's pluckiest girl agriculturist by the Central States Farming association. Miss Hulett has been keeping up her school work and at the same time running a 20-acre farm, plowing, planting and harvesting, raising pigs and caring for the cattle, mules and other stock. It is formally and officially reported that while breaking pea-ground last spring Velma worked a four-year-old mule so hard that it dropped dead in harness between the furrows—so she picked up a hoe and finished the job all alone. Her father is a miner.

He Is Still Gathering Up Junk

Above is pictured Max Kiansky, of Old Colony square, Brockton, Mass., who will continue to drive his junk cart until he gets accustomed to great wealth. A second cousin of his died in England recently, leaving a fortune amounting to eighty-eight million dollars. Kiansky has filed claim to a share of this vast estate.

The family, which went away from the house and left the dogs imprisoned, will be prosecuted by the humane society.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY DUE TO JEALOUSY

Man Shoots Dancing Wife, Kills Youth and Self.

Louisville, Ky.—John George, twenty-six, insurance agent, shot and probably mortally wounded his wife, mortally wounded Eugene Coats, seventeen, her partner, and then killed himself at a dance in the home of his mother-in-law here. George was crazed with jealousy because his wife had refused a dance with him to dance with Coats, investigators believe.

"I had been expecting this. He had threatened it before," Mrs. George was quoted after she had been taken to a hospital. Coats died in the hospital.

Mrs. George's mother said George was in a happy mood before he became angered. He went out and a short time later called his wife into the front yard and shot her, following a brief exchange of words.

George then entered the house, shot Coats, fired twice at other dancers and then killed himself instantly.

Mr. and Mrs. George, married five years, had a two-year-old daughter.

Hen That Ate Diamond Is Purchased for $250

Boston.—Lady Camille, a prize blue Orpington hen that was arrested recently charged with theft after it had snatched a diamond from a ring worn by a visitor at the Chelsea poultry show, has been purchased by Lawrence A. Randall, a Boston poultryman. He paid $250 to the owner of the diamond, in addition to the ruling market price for the hen.

Lady Camille was released when a judge found that the criminal code did not extend to fowls. Then the owner of the diamond insisted on an operation and paid the hen's owner $100 as damages in event of Lady Camille's death from the operation. Later Randall came forward with this offer, which both owners accepted.

"Spirits" Prompt Mother to Put Child on Coals

South Portland, Me.—Mrs. Ethel G. Gilliksen placed her two-month-old daughter on the red hot coals in her kitchen stove, the police said, because she believed that "spirits from God had called for the sacrifice" of the baby and that she "was soon to follow."

Neighbors who heard the screams of her other children rushed in and rescued the infant. At the hospital physicians said that the baby, although severely burned, probably would recover. The woman will be examined to determine her mental condition.

Woman Druggist Burned When Alcohol Explodes

New York.—A five-gallon can of alcohol exploded as Minn Anna Cona, twenty-four, was pouring some of it into a mortar to mix a prescription in her drug store at 152 Center street, Orange, N. J. With her clothing ablaze the young woman ran to the street, crying for help. A small boy removed his coat and smothered the flames. Then he disappeared without giving his name.

Miss Cona, who is said to be the only woman apothecary in the Oranges, was removed to her home, suffering from burns of the arms, face and body. Her condition is serious.

Woman Burns as Blind Mate Gropes to Rescue

Gloucester.—While her blind husband groped his way to within a few feet of her, Mrs. Albert Parsons failed in her efforts to beat the fire from her blazing clothing and was fatally burned. Parsons, wondering and terror-stricken, stumbled in the direction of his wife's screams, after she had caught fire from her kitchen stove. Mrs. Parsons died in a hospital a few hours later.

Wooden Leg Halts Suicide.

Tacoma, Wash.—Despondent because he could not find work, Charles Aldrich jumped into the bay. Charles has a wooden leg.

The artificial limb kept him from sinking in the water, and he was rescued by a bridge tender.

Baby Saves Family From Fire.

Lima, O.—Awakened during the night by the coughing of her baby, Mrs. J. H. Creps, discovered that her home was ablaze. She awakened her husband, and they were able to escape.

Goats Found Carrying Drugs.

Kansas City, Kan.—Every Billy and Nanny in this city, is under suspicion. Three goats were found the other day, each with tiny bags of drugs tied about its neck. Three "herders" fled.

"Chris," as he was familiarly known among many stock growers throughout the state, had been at State College for several years.

James Arroll, field director of the Near East Relief in the Russian Caucasus and Turkish Armenia, will speak in St. John's church next Sunday morning, Jan. 27, at 10:45. There is a lot of interesting information in Mr. Arroll's message and he is a speaker whose messges will not tire you. Be sure to hear him.

Mrs. Frank B. Hackett on Tuesday underwent an operation in the local hospital for appendicitis and later reports were that she was recovering nicely. Mrs. Hackett is the wife of the United Brethren minister, who will miss her help especially at this time as he has planned and will start his special revival services on Sunday, to continue indefinitely.

Walter Delige, porter at the Brockerhoff House, met with a very painful misfortune last Tuesday. His left hand and arm were burned severely and as a result he is carrying his arm in a sling. He had been attending to the furnace fire and the grates locked. He drew the clinkers and hot ashes and, to extinguish the heat quickly, tossed on the hot coals a bucketful of water.

George Blair, Frank Vaughn and Frank Dawson were a trio of Altoona men to visit here on Saturday. The latter frequently comes to Bellefonte, his home town. He holds down a good position in the Altoona shops and reported the Mountain City industrial outlook as good. He said, "The men are working five days a week right along and they seem to have all they can do in that time."

"The Passion Play," as it was produced at Oberammergau in 1922, a beautiful screen production, will be shown in Bellefonte on Wednesday evening, Feb. 6, under auspices of Protected Home Circle Lodge. The members had planned at first to have the pictures shown in the Red Men's lodge room, but were obliged to change this and now are arranging to have them at the Logan Hose House on Howard St.

George Bridges, of Washington, Pa., has accepted the position of service manager for the Beatty Motor Company and started his duties this week. Mr. Bridges, known familiarly as "Doc," was formerly the service manager of the McAllister Motor Company at Washington. He has been identified for ten years with the automobile industry and specialized the past five years in Ford and Lincoln service. He is recognized as an expert in his chosen work and Ford owners in this vicinity are fortunate to have his services at their command.

Capt. Charles Hosger, a regular army officer, will be in Bellefonte on March 20 and 21st to inspect the local detachments of the 52nd machine gun squadron, including the Headquarters, Medical detachment and Troop B. From here he will go to Boalsburg and inspect Troop A on March 22nd. On the 23rd he will be in Lewistown and inspect Troop C. Capt. Russell T. George, also of the regular army but stationed here as an instructor, will start on March 1st and be on inspection trips until March 15th of the detachments of the 104th cavalry.

Out-of-town guests present were Mrs. E Z Gross, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McCormick, Miss Anne McCormick, and Mrs. William E. Wright, of Harrisburg. A birthday cake with 80 candles was a feature of the dinner. Many relatives and friends called on Mrs. Norris during the evening to extend best wishes.

ROAD BOOSTERS MEET

Bald Eagle Valley Citizens Determined to Get Results.

Lower Bald Eagle valley residents have launched the strongest kind of a movement to secure a modern State highway for that section of the county to be known as the "Bald Eagle Trail." Spirited, largely attended meetings were held recently at Blanchard and Beech Creek and permanent organizations effected to hammer away with the project until the State Highway Department responds.

J. Fred Wynn was temporary chairman and George A. Rodgers secretary of the Beech Creek meeting, which was addressed by State Senator Dick Quigley, George F. Hess and others. The "Bald Eagle Trail Association, of Beech Creek" was organized with these officers: George F. Hess, president; J. Fred Wynn, vice president; George A. Rodgers, secretary, and I. J. Rohrbaugh, treasurer. The association will co-operate with similar organizations in other parts of the valley. Petitions requesting the construction of a concrete highway will be circulated for signers and later forwarded to the State Highway Department, at Harrisburg. The next meeting of the Beech Creek association will be held on Friday evening, Feb. 1st.

Citizens of Blanchard and nearby sections also held an enthusiastic meeting last Friday evening and organized an association for that part of the valley. Officers chosen were William C. Deitz, president; George W. Eaton, vice-president; Rev. T. C. Horn, secretary, and John Hoy, treasurer. About forty-five citizens were on hand and unanimously indorsed the project. A committee of five will be named to impress upon State Highway Commissioner Wright the importance of the improvement.

Residents of Howard and nearby points are expected to organize in the course of a few days.

It is believed by many residents of Bald Eagle valley, in both lower and upper sections, that nothing short of organized effort will secure such a highway as is desired, and it is their determination to keep the matter to the front until this fact is properly appreciated at Harrisburg.

Two Ended Lives.

Guiseppe Gremaldo, convicted of murder in the first degree at the Blair County court on Saturday morning and sentenced to electrocution, in less than an hour after being convicted ended his life in the Hollidaysburg jail by hanging himself with an improvised rope made from a blanket in his cell. Gremaldo was convicted of the murder of Clarence Leonard, a New Hampshire man, in Altoona on June 25 during a quarrel about washing dishes. A Mexican laborer placed by request in the lockup in Tyrone on Saturday, after a period of drinking moonshine, was found dead when an officer went to release him. The Mexican had asked for a drink of water and it was given him in a milk bottle. Broken glass from the bottle, which he had used to cut a deep gash in his neck, was found in the cell.

Some Place!

Joe Sourbeck departed on Friday afternoon for Coaldale, Colorado, where he spent the greater part of last year in quest of health. Joe is enthusiastic about that part of the country. "Coaldale is in the same section where the famous Rocky-Ford canteloupes originated," said Joe. "It is a great climate and great for gardening. The fruit grown is wonderful. Cherries get nearly as large as plums and are delicious. I had apples almost as big as grapefruit. Other fruits do equally well and the flavor is remarkable." Mrs. Sourbeck will remain here until Easter when she will join her husband in Colorado.

ACADEMY WON

Basket Ball Season in Full Swing During Week.

Basket ball fans had a variety of the finest kind of sport during the weekend and the local teams provided entertainment which pleased even the closest critics. The season is on in full swing and the contests are clean and close.

The Bellefonte Academy quintet won their opening game of the season on last Thursday evening, defeating the strong Bucknell Sigma Chi team 38—34. This was a remarkably good contest and required two extra periods of 5 minutes each to secure a victory.

On Friday evening, the Bellefonte High School boys' team battled evenly for honors with the Lewistown High, the latter making a basket and winning by one point in the last second of play, the score being 28—27. The teams were matched well, the locals making up in speed what they lacked in weight, and the visitors were on their toes the entire game.

In their second game of the season on Saturday evening, in the local armory, the Bellefonte Academy cleaned the strong Bloomsburg Normal five, winning by the score of 41—38. It was a game of skill in which the contestants were very closely matched, the Academy players excelling by a very small margin. Blackburn and F. White featured for the Academy; Schwall, Matlock and Lerda for the visitors.

This week the Academy meets some strong opposition and old rivals. This Thursday night, they meet Indiana Normal at Indiana, Pa.; Friday evening, at Pittsburgh, the Pittsburgh Freshmen, and Saturday evening, the strong Independents of Windber.

The Bellefonte High School girls have some team this year. In their first game, on a strange floor, they held the Lock Haven Normal girls, the latter winning by only one point in the last minute of the game. On Saturday evening, they played the Lock Haven High School girls and Bellefonte simply walked away with their opponents. This game, too, was in Lock Haven. The score was 18—9. On Friday evening the girls will play at Milroy. The Bellefonte High School, boys' second team, will also play at Milroy on Friday evening.

The Tyrone High School team will be the rivals of the Bellefonte High School first team on Friday evening in Tyrone. The teams are well matched and a close contest is anticipated.

De Coursey—Haupt.

Frederick De Coursey, formerly of Philadelphia and New York, but a resident of Bellefonte since last October, and Miss Catherine Haupt, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Haupt, will be united in marriage on next Monday evening at the home of the young woman's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore B. Haupt. The wedding is the culmination of a romance which began when Mr. De Coursey came here as advance agent for the Smith's Greater Shows, the best carnival company that ever exhibited in Bellefonte. Since that time, several years ago, Mr. DeCoursey has frequently visited in Bellefonte and finally decided to locate here. At present he is employed by the Bread Specialty Co., of New York. He is a member of the Showmen's League of America, the Showman's Legislative Committee, National Press Association, Theatrical Press Association and General Agents and Advance Agents Association of New York City. He is a member of the local lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, and was one of the active boosters for purchasing of the Garman opera house and new Moose Home. He is putting up a determined effort to secure management of the opera house under the Moose and seems ably qualified to handle it. He also has a splendid war record, having served overseas for 18 months as an aviator, 480th Aero Squadron. The ceremony will be performed by Miss Haupt's pastor, Rev. Reed. O. Steely, of the Evangelical church.

Johnson—Weaver.

Harry Johnson, of Bellefonte, and Miss Adeline Weaver, of AxeMann, well-known young folks, were united in marriage on Sunday evening during services in the United Evangelical church in Bellefonte by the groom's pastor, Rev. Reed O. Steely. The wedding came as a surprise to the congregation, not having been made public, and was performed just before Rev. Steely started his sermon. Mr. Johnson is a son of Mrs. Harry Johnson and has been employed in the chemical department of the local match plant. A host of friends join with "The Republican" in wishing the couple much happiness.

Benner—Spearly.

Russell Benner and Miss Helen Spearly were united in marriage last Thursday at the Evangelical parsonage in Bellefonte by Rev. Reed O. Steely, the pastor. The groom is a valued employe of the Chemical Lime Company and has been residing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heckman, near town. The bride is the only daughter of County Commissioner John Spearly and wife. They are estimable young folks of this section and a large circle of friends wish them a long and happy life.

Miller—Lutz.

Torrence Miller, employed at the Miller and Miles restaurant, and Miss May Isabelle Lutz, both well-known young folks, will be married on Monday.

Coldest Weather This Season.

Those folks who believe in the expression, "As the days lengthen the cold strengthens," were "King bees" this week, the thermometers indicating the coldest weather of the season to date. The wind made the cold of Monday more penetrating than on Tuesday, but it was several degrees colder on Tuesday morning. Even at that, the thermometers were registering only about zero, some a few degrees below zero, the temperature seeming to vary with different instruments and in different places.
